Meeting: Detailed Analysis Report on Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE) Stocks

1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

BSE Limited, known as the Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE), is Asia's oldest stock exchange, established in 1875, and ranks as the sixth largest globally by market capitalization, which surpassed $5 trillion as of May 2024. Headquartered in Mumbai, India, BSE currently lists approximately 5,647 companies. As of April 2, 2026, BSE's total market capitalization was ₹416 lakh crore (approx. US$4.3 trillion). The exchange reported revenues of ₹3,236 crore (US$340 million) and net income of ₹1,322 crore (US$140 million) for FY ending March 31, 2025.

BSE operates multiple indices including the flagship BSE SENSEX, BSE 100, BSE 500, BSE MidCap, and BSE SmallCap, offering broad market coverage. The company's stock price as of June 12, 2026, was ₹4,041.10, reflecting a 1.05% decline in 24 hours but nearly doubling from its 52-week low.

BSE has evolved into a comprehensive trading platform for equities, debt, derivatives, and mutual funds. It launched India INX, India's first international stock exchange, in GIFT City in December 2016, and pioneered commodity derivatives contracts in gold and silver in October 2018. The exchange demutualized in 2007 and listed on NSE in 2017 under the ticker 'BSE.'

Despite prominence, BSE has faced controversies including market manipulation and insider trading scandals, prompting regulatory interventions. It is a partner of the UN Sustainable Stock Exchange initiative since 2012, underscoring its commitment to sustainability and transparency. On June 12, 2026, BSE Ltd. saw active trading volume of approximately 2.9 million shares on NSE. Key leadership includes Chairman Subhasis Chaudhuri and MD & CEO Sundararaman Ramamurthy. BSE remains a critical pillar of India's capital markets.

2. KEY ATTENDEE BACKGROUND
